

OTHERS' ORGANS AND THE NATURE OF SUFFERING

THIS TALK EXPLORES

HOW (GENDERED) IDEAS ABOUT NATURE UNDERWRITE THE EVER-INCREASING USE OF ORGANS FROM LIVING DONORS, THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN NATURE AND SUFFERING, AND ABOUT WHAT COMES MOST "NATURALLY" FROM CERTAIN KINDS OF BODIES.

Center

for Ideas and Society

MEGAN CROWLEY-MATOKA

PROFESSOR OF MEDICAL EDUCATION/ANTHROPOLOGY, NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

February 9, 2017

3:30-5 PM

INTS 1113

Sponsored by the Center for Ideas and Society's Nature of 'Nature' series and the UCR Department of Anthropology.
Website: ideasandsociety.ucr.edu
Facebook: ideasandsociety