

Steven Mandeville-Gamble Scholarship

Deadline Extended March 4th, 2016

We're happy to report that we are launching the Steven Mandeville-Gamble Scholarship for anthropology students. Thanks to a generous donation to the department from UCR's University Librarian Steven Mandeville-Gamble (see <http://ucrtoday.ucr.edu/29550>), we are able to offer financial support to cover a portion of the expenses for a student studying abroad, with a preference for students who will be doing original anthropological research during their study abroad. Any questions concerning the award criteria and application process can be directed to the Study Abroad Programs Office, contact information listed below.

Eligibility: The Steven Mandeville-Gamble Scholarship is to support anthropological study abroad. The award selections will be primarily based on academic merit and integration of a selected program into a student's academic and career goals, as demonstrated in a personal statement. Chosen program must contribute to fulfilling at least one major course requirement. Scholarship can be applied to UCEAP or OAP programs.

Additional Requirements:

- Must major in anthropology
- 3.0 GPA or higher
- Submit official or unofficial copy of transcript
- NOTE: Scholarship deadline is only once a year! If applying for winter/spring semester 2017 program, you must submit an application on the March 4, 2016 deadline date.

Application: Submit the application information for the UCEAP-UCR Scholarship or UCR Study Abroad Programs Scholarship found at the following link:
<http://studyabroad.ucr.edu/finances/UCR%20Study%20Abroad%20Scholarship%20Application1.pdf>

Plus an additional essay addressing the following:

- Describe how the country and specific program you selected will help you achieve your academic and career goals. Include specific opportunities, courses, projects, or goals you plan to pursue while abroad and explain why studying abroad is the best way to accomplish them. Your statement of purpose should be clear and concise.
