Maria L. Cruz-Torres is a cultural anthropologist whose areas of research include political ecology, impact of globalization upon local communities and households, gender, sustainability and the environment, migration, food systems, and the environmental and social aspects of natural resource management. She is author of, Lives of Dust and Water: an Anthropology of Change and Resistance in Northwestern Mexico (University of Arizona Press) and co-editor of Gender and Sustainability: lessons from Asia and Latin America (university of Arizona Press).